JANUARY 2025

MESSAGE FROM THE UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT

Dear UNC Family,

Now, as we look ahead to 2025, let's carry with us the spirit of hope, determination, and unity that has defined us. This year, we will set our sights even higher, daring to dream bigger and achieve more. Our commitment to excellence will continue to guide us, and with each new challenge we face, we will rise stronger, together.

Let us be reminded that each of us has a role to play in the success of our university—whether in the classroom, the office, or the communities we serve. Together, we are building a legacy of leadership, integrity, and innovation that will continue to inspire the next generation of UNCeans.

So, let us march forward with renewed purpose and energy. Let us embrace every opportunity to learn, grow, and achieve. The journey may not always be easy, but rest assured student life has been designed to ensure that in UNC, everybody makes it, Makakatapos, Magkakatrabaho, at Magtatagumpay!

To every member of the UNC family, I am proud of all we have accomplished, and I am excited for the future we will create together in 2025.

Mabuhay ang Pamilyang UNCeano!

Sincerely,
Madam Fay

UNC Marks a New Chapter in Excellence with Special Commercial Laws Book Launch

The University of Nueva Caceres marked another milestone in legal scholarship with the official book launch and signing of Special Commercial Laws by Atty. Raiza Nicole G. Mendiola-Ladlad, LL.M. The event took place on January 15, 2025, at the UNC Library Reading Area, drawing students, faculty, and legal professionals eager to celebrate this significant achievement.

The ceremony was attended by distinguished guests, including Atty. Antonio Rivero, Dean of the UNC School of Law, and Dr. Romeo M. Sumayo Jr., Vice President for Academic Affairs. Students from the School of Law gathered to witness the launch, which underscored UNC's dedication to fostering academic excellence and producing leaders in the legal profession.

During the event, Atty. Ladlad expressed her gratitude for the support of the university and the legal community, emphasizing the importance of continuous learning and legal scholarship. Her book, Special Commercial Laws, serves as a valuable resource for law students and practitioners, providing insightful analysis and practical applications of commercial law principles.

"This book is not just a collection of legal provisions; it is a guide for aspiring lawyers to navigate the complexities of commercial law," Atty. Ladlad remarked during her speech. "I hope it inspires and aids those who seek to uphold justice and legal integrity."

UNC's commitment to academic advancement was evident throughout the event, reinforcing its reputation as Bicolano's Best Bet for higher education and professional success. The university continues to support faculty members and students in their scholarly endeavors, ensuring that UNC remains a hub for intellectual and professional growth.

The book Special Commercial Laws is now available at the UNC Library and select bookstores. Students and legal professionals are encouraged to explore this latest contribution to the field of law.

University of Nueva Caceres Holds Movers and Moderators Summit

The University Student Government (USG) hosted the Movers and Moderators Summit titled “PAGAHOM: Empowering Student Leaders and Moderators to Expand Sustainable Leadership Horizons” on January 16-17, 2025. The two-day event brought together club moderators and student leaders from elementary to college levels to strengthen leadership skills and promote impactful student initiatives. Originally scheduled for October 2024, the summit was rescheduled due to a recent typhoon. The event kicked off on January 16, 2025, at 8:25 am at the UNC Sports Palace.

Additionally, participants received an inspirational Zoom message from Atty. Jose Manuel I. “Chel” Diokno, a renowned human rights and environmental defender, and Senator Risa Hontiveros of the Republic of the Philippines. Atty. Maria Leonor Gerona Robredo, Chairperson and President of Angat Pinas, Inc., also shared leadership insights in a Q&A with Atty. Leni Robredo, further inspiring the student leaders.

100% Passing Rate for First-Time Takers, 75% Overall—Setting a New Standard for Academic Excellence

The University of Nueva Caceres (UNC) is celebrating another monumental achievement as its newly licensed architects soar to new heights! In the recent licensure exam, UNC achieved an impressive 100% passing rate for first-time takers and an overall 75% passing rate—far exceeding the national average of 58.71%.

This outstanding performance underscores UNC’s unwavering commitment to academic excellence, reinforcing the university's reputation for producing world-class professionals. The College of Engineering and Architecture continues to lead in shaping innovative and skilled architects who are ready to make a mark in the industry.

To the newly licensed architects, your journey of creating and designing the future begins now. As you embark on this new chapter, remember to build with purpose and design with heart. You are the pioneers who will turn ideas into reality, and your hard work and dedication will set the foundation for a promising future. The sky’s the limit—you are just getting started!

A heartfelt congratulations goes to the UNC College of Engineering and Architecture, especially to Dean Christine Bautista, Program Head Ar. Casey Niña Abalayan, and all the faculty, administrators, and students who played a pivotal role in this achievement.
